AERONAUTICAL INFORMATION SERVICE

AIC
B No. 04/26
Date: 01 Feb 26

SUBJECT: Notification of illness, injury or pregnancy by holder of a pilot licence

1. The holder of a Macao pilot licence is required by paragraph 20(7) of the Air Navigation Regulations of Macao (ANRM) to inform the Civil Aviation Authority (AACM) in writing under certain medical conditions. Under such medical conditions the licence is deemed to be suspended.
2. In the case of injury or illness, the suspension shall cease upon the holder being medically examined and assessed by a Designated Aviation Medical Examiner (AME) as fit to resume his/her functions as a member of the flight crew.
3. In the case of pregnancy, the suspension shall remain in force until the holder has been medically examined after the termination of the pregnancy and pronounced fit to resume her duties under the licence by a Designated AME.
4. In any case, the licence holder is reminded to inform the Designated AME of his/her case of injury, illness or pregnancy. The Designated AME will send a dedicated form to notify the AACM of the result.
5. For the purpose of fulfilling paragraph 20(7) of the ANRM of informing the AACM in writing, the holder of a Macao pilot licence may either:
 - a) complete the notification form (PEL/APP/016) and send to AACM by post or by fax; or
 - b) make online application through the ALMS online application system
<https://licensing.aacm.gov.mo/alms-pub>
6. The list of Designated AMEs is updated periodically through the Macao AIC B series.
7. Please note that medical examination reports resulted from paragraph 2 and 3 above are also subject to the review from the medical assessor (See AIC B 03/09 dated 01 Mar 2009).
8. AIC B 10/11 is hereby cancelled.
